

Is Your Club's Tax Assessment Fair? GPA can help!

What is Your Club doing about Real Estate Taxes?

Tax time can be demoralizing and confusing, but it also represents a great opportunity for many golf courses and clubs to improve their bottom line through a potential reduction in real estate tax assessments. This year, 2014, is your next best opportunity to make an impact.

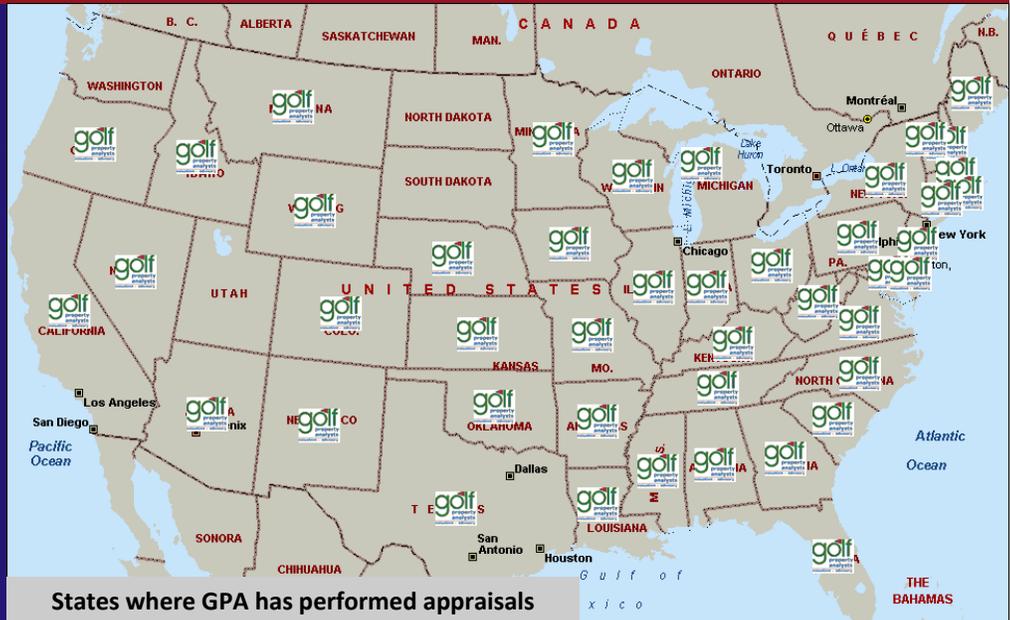

In recent years, Golf Property Analysts (GPA) has provided several clients with appraisal services that supported substantial assessment reductions. We are awaiting court decisions on several more.

We're golf appraisal and assessment experts. See here the many ways we can address your specific case.

Golf property assessment appeal considerations

1. What is the current assessment?
2. What is the operating trend of the club for the past three (3) years?
3. Are there any items of deferred maintenance? Are there bids to address these items?
4. Has the club been sold recently?
5. Has the property been marketed for sale?
6. Does the club have inadequate, adequate or super-adequate equipment?
7. Is the club efficiently managed?
8. What is the appeal deadline and has an appeal been filed?
9. If private, does the club have a full membership? A waiting list?
10. Are there any easements, covenants or restrictions precluding alternative development of the property?
11. Is your state a "highest and best use" state or are tax assessments based on the property's current use?
12. Remember, taxes cannot be contested, but assessments can.
